President Bush Finally Quells the Disturbance by Showing Ringleaders the Angle in the Track—Bronx's Defeat of Diaphanous Causes Outbreak.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 14.—There were rictous scenes after the finish in the first race at the Fair Grounds this afternoon. An angry crowd surged around the grand stand and called on the judges to take down the number of a horse that had been declared the winner by the officials. Every second onstration grew stronger. C. S. Bush, the president of the Crescent City Jockey Club who also is the general manager, addressed the crowd. Mr. Bush said: "The placing judges are paid a liberal salary and have no interest in the race. They are thoroughly honest."

The crowd drowned the words that Mr. Bush uttered by shouting: "Robber," "Thief," "Give us our money back—you sure-thing people." Oaths were also freely used. About this time Track Detective Frank W. Smith and Local Detective Fred Littleton attempted to quell the disturbance by arresting the man who started all the trouble. The leader stood his ground and refused to be arrested. He aimed a blow at the head of Detective Littleton, but it fell short through the interference of Detective Smith.

The crowd was growing angrier every minute, and Mr. Bush, who had been hustled into the judges' stand by friends, made his reappearance. He got a number of politicians and others to examine the "angle" at the fnish. He also explained that there was a difference of over half a length from the inside to the outside rail. His explanation had a good effect, and after about twenty minutes of excitement the crowd finally

The cause of the trouble was due to the way the horses were placed. Diaphanous was the pacemaker all the way, but was stopping fast at the finish. Bronx worked his way through and at the end was catching Diaphanous at every jump. It was a rather close fit and opinion was that Diaphanous had won by a neck. When No. "6", which was Bronx's number, was displayed as the winner, a man in the grand stand shouted, "Hang out the red flag." Pandemonium broke locae.

It was a bad day for the talent, as every favorite was beaten. The hardest blow was the defeat of Little Scout in the closing event. He was at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 4, and locked to have the race at his mercy.

Management of Brighton Track Increase merous Stakes for Next Season.

The Brighton Handicap at a mile and a quarter, to be run at the beach next July, will be the richest stake of its kind run on the Eastern turf. The Brighton Beach Racing Association, through Secretary John Boden, Jr., announced yesterday that the guaranteed value of the handicap next year would be $25,000. By increasing its value the Brighton management figures that the race may bring together the winners of the Metropolitan, Brooklyn and Suburban handicaps in a final test. The fact that Gold Heels won the Brighton in 1902 in world's record time and also that Waterboy, last year's winner, ran the distance in 2:03 1-5. the fastest time eyer made on a circular or straightaway course, has been taken to mean that the successful horse in this stake comes very near being the champion of the year.

The Brighton people also have increased e value of several other stakes. The sighton Cup will have a guaranteed value $10,000, while the added money of the p Preliminary, Test Handicap, Islip, Seatte, Glen Cove, Montauk and Winged Foot, is been increased. JEFFRIES WARMLY RECEIVED. Champion Appears at the Dewey in Role of Boxer and Actor.

Champion Jim Jeffries began a week's engagement at the Dewey Theatre last night and received a warm welcome. It was Jeffries's first appearance here since he whipped Jim Corbett at San Francisco, a few months ago, and there was a large crowd on hand to see him. Jeffries made his first entrance in the burlesque which closes the show.

in the burlesque which closes the show. He appeared as Jack Worthington, while his sparring partner, Joe Kennedy of California, took the part of Spike Hennessy, a well known local sport with puglistic aspirations. Hennessy tries to win the affections of Worthington's sweetheart, but his advances are heroically checked by the champion, who, after a challenge, exchanges knocks with Hennessy for three rounds.

Jeffries appeared to be in fine trim and was as lively as ever. He had a good foil in Kennedy, who is a husky young fellow, capable of withstanding some fierce blows. And last night the boilermaker swatted him some and made the mock contest look so real that some of the sports in the theatre thought that they were gazing on the genuine article. Jeffries was called upon for a speech, but modestly retired. The champion said afterward in his dressing room that he was ready to meet anybody in the world except a negro. Regarding the prospect of another contest with Jim Corbett at St. Louis, Jeffries declared:

"I'm satisfied as long as they can show

"I'm satisfied as long as they can show me a good purse. But I think that that story from St. Louis was only a josh and that the town will not stand for a mill, especially in which a championship is involved.

GANS AFTER LANGFORD.

Ready to Meet His Conqueror for Side Bet -Herford Says "Excuses Are Odious."

Al Herford, manager of Joe Gans, is much perturbed over the latter's recent defeat by Sam Langford in Boston, and wants to arrange another contest. Herford con-tends that Gans is still the champion lightweight, as the battle with Langford was decided above the lightweight scale. Herford savs:

will sign articles for a twenty round bout, provided he will reduce to 133 pounds, weigh in at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the scrap. I don't think he can do this. But if he can, Gans will be ready to talk business if Langford's backers will agree to a side bet, say

"I do not wish to detract from his repu tation, as he is a very good man. But he should not take credit for a thing which does not belong to him. Gans was not in as good shape as he has been in other important battles, but excuses are odious, and we ion't care to make them. If Langford is sincere he can have a fight without much rouble."

Gans's next fight will be with Jack Blackburn, the negro lightweight of Philadelphia. They are to meet for fifteen rounds before the Eureka A. C., Baltimore, next Monday

Gardner is now matched to meet Marvin Hart of Louisville, and the encounter is to be decided before one of the Boston clubs next month It will be for fifteen rounds. Their last fight, which took place in Louisville, resulted in a victory for Gardner. Hart broke one of his hands and could not continue.

Gardner says that if he is successful again st Hart he will agree to meet Fitz again and wager $1,000 on the side.

COURT RULES IN SLOAN'S FAVOR. French Jockey Club Must Pay Costs of the Suit.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN Paris, Dec. 14.—The court which has been hearing the testimony in the suit for $40,000 damages brought by Tod Sloan against the damages prought by Tod Sloan against the Jockey Club because he was excluded from the French turf rendered its decision to-day. The court decided that the French Jockey Club acted wrongfully in applying Regulation 76 to Sloan. It condemned the club to pay the costs. The court ruled that Sloan had not proved that he was entitled to damages.

The Jockey Club excluded Sloan from the weighing enclosures and all training grounds controlled by the society, on the ground that he exercised the horse Rose de Mai at Chantilly without authority in May last. The horse won the Prix de Diane, on May 20, after being backed down from 12 to 1 to 4 to 1.

COLLEGE AUTOMOBILE CONTEST. The Idea Is Now Being Considered at Several Big Institutions.

The latest form of sport to be introduced n the colleges is an automobile speed con-in the colleges is an automobile speed contest, which has been proposed for the Christmas holidays. Correspondence has been going on between Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania looking toward the consummation of this proposition, and it was said yesterday that it was possible that at least three institutions would meet on the track before many weeks. All five universities have flourishing automobile clubs, and a race would prove of considerable interest.

Harvard has, in Cannon, an automobilist of some repute, and he is anxious to have an association formed among the colleges and races arranged before he leaves the Cambridge institution. Yale also has several motorisits who are capable of driving their machines at top speed over a long stretch of country. The club at Columbia, after several months of inaction, has reorganized, and is planning a number of practice runs to Ardsley and New Jersey and Long Island towns. The promoters of the plan insist that a collegiate road race will be one of the events of the present athletic season.

FIRST ENTRY FOR AUTO CUP RACE Alden Samson 2d of Pittsburg Files Formal Challenge.

Yesterday the Automobile Club of America received the first formal written entry for a place on the American team in the international cup race to be held in Germany next summer. The first entry is from an entirely new man in the raceing field, Alden Samson 2d, a Pittsburg millionaire. Mr. Samson nominates a Moyea racer as the car he will drive in the race, this being a car comparatively little known. "Moyea" is an Indian word meaning "swift running."

R. H. Kittridge of Cleveland has announced that he will enter a Peerless car for the race this year, so it seems probable that there will be no lack of entries from which to select a full team of three. received the first formal written entry for a full team of three.

ROUGH, SLUGGING FOOTBALL

STIRRING TIMES AT INDOOR GAMES IN THE GARDEN.

Police Stop a Fistic Mix-up Between Rival Players-Gallery Grows Excited Over Decisions-Oreos Gives Watertown Eleven a Hard Battle-A Big Crowd.

Indoor football in Madison Square Garder caught on last night, between three and four thousand persons watching some exciting sport in which there was so much slugging that the police, in several instances, interfered. The star game was between the Watertown A. A. of Watertown, N. Y., and the Oreos A. C. of Asbury Park.

The Watertown eleven was made up o several well known former collegians and outweighed the Jerseymen fifteen pounds to the man. The latter, hitherto unknown, played a beautiful game, but the men from up the State scored a touchdown in the second half on a play that created trouble and caused a cry of "robbery" from the defeated. Th gridiron was seventy-five yards long.

The fun began with a game between local teams, in which the Olympic A. C. beat the Knickerbocker F. C., 6 to 0. The Olympics kicked off from their 25-yard line and the Knickerbockers proceeded to rush the bal back to the centre of the field, where it was lost on downs. The play became red hot instantly and slugging cropped out on both sides. The crowd warmed up, and every-body yelled as the ball was fumbled and the players rolled about in the dirt fighting for its possession. Once Louis Hinkey, the old Yale end, who was referee, was overturned, and a Knickerbocker man had to jump clear over him before getting under way. Then Capt. Waters of the Olympics got in a terrific tackle and secured the ball. Mr. Hinkey who came into the Garden with a beautifu black eye, soon created a howl of disapproval from the Olympics because of a ruling, and after a wild wrangle he was induced to with-draw in favor of Mr. Schwen of Orange. T. Murphy, the Olympics' centre, was a little fat fellow whose paunch made it a hardship for him to navigate. In the midst of a

"Eat 'em alive, Knicker!" roared a man in the top gallery when the teams came out again. The Knickers kicked off and Owens was in another fight before the ball could be put in play again. Half a dozen men were exchanging blows when the umpire singled out Lynch and Whiteman and ruled them off,

"Kill 'em! Kill 'em!" yelled the crowd, and the players went at it hammer and tongs. The "Knickers" received fifteen yards for offside play and their antagonists had to punt. The "Knickers" decided to kick, but Leahey fumbled the pass and was downed on his 10 yard line. It was the Olympics' ball. Waters went around the left end to the 1 yard line, where the players crashed into the boxes. With one foot to go, P. Murphy, who took Lynch's place, was hurled over for a touchdown and Goodman kicked the goal, making the score 6 to 0.

A wild cheer greeted the Watertown and Oreos elevens as they came out for battle. Watertown kicked off and soon got the ball on the Oreos' 15-yard line. In a mix-up one Oreo player was knocked senseless, and Police Sergeant McCullogh went among the players to find out what it all meant. But the player was up on his toes the next minute. Oreos braced finely and the big fellows from up the State lost the ball on downs. Then the Asbury Park boys showed that they knew much about football by driving the Watertown men to the middle of the field, where, the referee said, there had been a forward pass and inflicted a penalty of fifteen yards, the followers of the Oreos howling with rage. The ball was punted to Draper, who hustled back to his 30-yard line in brilliant style.

"Hang the referee!" was the cry from the top gallery as Draper made another gain, whereupon Mr. Hinkey, who was watching the battle out of his good eye, laughed audibly. Kruse rushed to the 15-yard line, after sponges had been used by both teams, and another plunge landed the ball on the 5-yard mark. But on the next play, the Oreos men broke through so quickly that the ball was fumbled and Watertown lost it. Leggett funbled from in front of the goal posts, the ball breaking an electric light in the roof and, falling, was fumbled so that the Oreos still had it in the middle of the field. Leggett dropped back for another punt, fumbled the pass and then set the crowd wild with a run clear up to Watertown's 10-yard line, where Draper dropped him.

So interesting was the battle that the band, which had been playing away at intervals, laid aside instruments and hung over the edge of the balcony, open-mouthed. Watertown to first playing faster every moment and the Oreos were on the run when the first half ended, neither side having scored.

moment and the Oreos were on the run when the first half ended, neither side having scored.

When play was resumed the Oreos kicked off, and the bail was fumbled, but recovered by Draper on his 15-yard line. Draper then rushed to the centre, but Loughlin was stopped for no gain. Draper then made a great run to the Oreos' 10-yard line, where H. Rushton made him stand on his head. The Oreos braced, and on the third down Watertown had five yards to gain. The ensuing plunge was stopped, and the Oreos received the ball on downs. Leggett's punt was partially blocked, and the ball went out of bounds. A Watertown man then took the Oreos completely by surprise by working the old trick of touching the ball down inside of the boundary line and then passing it half way across the Garden to Draper, who was able to rush to the 1-yard line. There was a long, heated argument over this play, but it was allowed, and a few minutes afterward Bottger made a touchdown.

Instantiy there was a rough and tumble fight, in which several players and spectators took part, and it went on until policemen hurried up from all parts of the Garden. There was no goal trial because more than one man touched the ball after it was taken out for placement. The score was 5 to 0 in favor of Watertown.

SUICIDE IN LAFAYETTE BATHS.

Paul Frankel, a Salesman Since He Failed in Business, Shoots Himself. Paul Frankel of 962 Lexington avenue, a salesman for the cigar firm of Michaelis & Lindeman, at 459 Broadway, committed suicide by shooting himself at the Lafay ette Baths yesterday afternoon. Frankel, who was about 45 years old was in the cloak business for himself and had several stores until three or four years ago, when he failed. He then entered the employ of Michaelis & Lindeman at what is said to have been a good salary, but, according to his associates, he worried a good deal over his failure and recently became morose.

It was his custom to report at the cigar firm's office at 1 o'clock every afternoon. Yesterday, instead of going there, he called up Franz R. Wolff, a member of the firm, on the telephone, saying that he would be around later. Soon after that he went to the Lafayette Baths, engaged a room and took off his outer garments. The people in the baths heard two revolver shots and when attendants Mause and Edward Doll entered Frankel's room they found him dead. He had sat in front of a mirror and fired two bullets into his head.

In the room were found two letters. One, In the room were found two letters. One, addressed to Mr. Wolff, read:

It has come at last. I hope you will forgive me and be charitable to my wife and save her as much of the disgrave as possible in such a case. I am very sorry for her and my old parents. I have no excuse to offer and don't offer any. I will enclose a list of collections made, which are all accounted for. Long life and happiness to all of you. You were certainly very kind to me. Good-by.

The other was addressed to another mer ber of the firm. Frankel leaves a widow and several children. According to members of the firm, his accounts are apparently correct.

William Cushing, who married a woman out of a Bowery "back room," in August 1902, and beat her to death after she left 1902, and beat her to death after she left him in June, 1903, is being tried before a jury in Part III. of the Supreme Court, Criminal Term. Cushing was a coal passer on the flagship Olympia during the battle of Manila Bay. Rear Admiral James Entwistle, retired, wrote to Otto Rosalsky, Cushing's counsel, yesterday to say that Cushing had always been a sober, careful and brave man in the navy. Cushing's defence is that he was crazed by the discovery of his wife's return to her former evil life.

SIX DAY CYCLERS CASH IN. The Sick and the Halt on Hand With the Others for Their Money.

The riders in the six day race yes terday received their prize moneys, training expenses and guaranteed bonuses. In all, about $20,000 was paid out for the men in the race, $20,000 was paid out for the men in the race, though the first prize was nominally only $1,500. The prominent riders who were "attractions" had bonuses guaranteed to them and some riders who remained in to the end were getting a good sum daily for doing so. All the riders were on hand for the money John Bedell, Oliver Dorlon and Charles Barclay, who were the ones most injured in accidents, putting in an appearance. Some of the men will go to Washington in January to compete in a six day race there.

The winners of the second and third prizes in the amateur 14-inch balk line tournament at the Knickerbocker Billiard Academy were decided last night. C. E. White and Dr. H. D. Jennings contested the game, which was for second prize. The former won the game and prize by 43 points. Dr. Jennings, therefore, had to be satisfied with third place. White—0, 1, 0, 11, 0, 8, 17, 0, 14, 8, 15, 8, 21, 1, 0, 9, 3, 16, 25, 10, 0, 0, 2, 2, 5, 0, 4, 8, 2, 3, 3, 2, 2, 10tal, 200. Average, 62-33. New York Nationals' Southern Trip. The New York National League club has completed arrangements for its spring training trip. The ball players will report in Washington oh March 6 and from there will go to Savannah for a week. They will be in Birmingham from March 15 to the 29th in Birmingham from March 15 to the 29th, playing Southern League teams there. On March 30 and 31 they will play in Little Rock, April 1 and 2 in Nashville, and April 4, 5 and 6 in Montgomery, returning to New York on April 9. The following is the club's list of players: W. J. Mulligan, a pitcher from Buffalo: Dunn, Dahlen, McGann, Gilbert, Warner, Bowerman, Ames, Mertes, Mathewson, Lauder, McGinnity, Taylor, McCormick, Browne and Bresnahan. The names of George Davis and Fielder Jones also appear on the list given out by the New York club, they having signed contracts, but that does not mean they will play with the New Yorks.

De La Saile Wins at Basketball. The De La Salle Institute basketball team defeated the Dwight School team in the former's gymnasium yesterday by a score of 17 to 3. The De La Salle boys outplayed their opponents at every point of the game and failed to score oftener only because of the poor goal shooting.

Was a Voluntary Inmate of Raymond Street Jall for 30 Years.

James Davis, 70 years old, known as Jimmy the Paup," died in the Brooklyr Hospital late on Saturday night after voluntarily spending more than thirty years in the Raymond Street Jail. Jimmy was sent to the jail for a petty offence. When his time expired he was told to leave, but refused to do so. He did odd jobs about the jail and he finally became so useful to the keepers and the warden that he was intrusted with many routine duties.

Because of his faithful attention to duty the wardens suggested several times that he be put upon the payroll. This could not be accomplished, however, but Jimmy finally got the privilege of selling tobacco and candy to the prisoners. Frequently a prisoner would be without money and in dire need of a smoke. Jimmy could never resist an appeal from such a one and his savings would disappear as a result of his generosity. After his death his cell was searched and $14 was found, all that he had to show for thirty years profits from the sale of tobacco and candy in the jail.

The old man had no relatives or friends outside of the jail. Warden McLaughlin and a number of keepers have arranged for his burial in Holy Cross Cemetery to-day. in the Raymond Street Jail. Jimmy was

FELL NINE STORIES.

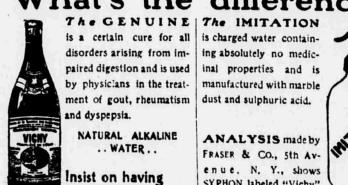

Window Cleaner Lost His Balance and Was Crushed to Death.

Thomas Jenkins, a window cleaner, was killed late yesterday afternoon by falling from the eleventh to the second floor through the airshaft in the Tract Society's Building, at Nassau and Spruce streets. He went into the office of George Goodsir, Jr., and said he was going to clean one of the windows overlooking the airshaft. When he got out into the shaft he had on the belt which window cleaners in tall the belt which window cleaners in tall buildings usually wear. A rope from the belt is attached to some fixture in the room. Jenkins finished cleaning the window on the outside and started to reenter the room. He stood on the window sill for a moment and took the rope from his belt. Then he started to raise the window, but appropriate started to raise the window, but apparently lost his balance and fell. His skull was crushed and several bones were broken. Jenkins lived at 129 Beekman street and had been employed in the Tract building for some time. Always Remember the Full Name axative Bromo Quinine
